Dear Mrs [Redacted],

In addition to my previous e-mail, I would like to check if I am right, that in Germany normally these birds would have been registered. If this is true, for this reason we would reject the application.

Kind regards,

[Redacted]

Dear Mrs [Redacted],

Thank you very much for your response.

Would you agree with us if we would reject this application for this reason?

Thank you in advance for your response.

Kind regards,

Dear Colleagues,

I reminded the local authority in Kleve of my request in this matter.
The competent officer for [Redacted] from Kevelaer informed me, that there is presently no information available concerning the Penelopides-specimens on the "Herkunftsnachweis" of November 9, 2016.
These birds are not registered in Kleve at the regional authority.

According to our national law no special marking method is noted in the "Bundesartenschutzverordnung". So the closed footing would be the best, the microchip the second best method.

Mr. [REDACTED] claims the birds should have been bred by himself. But the regional authority received - up to now - not the necessary registration data.

Kind regards,

Dear Mrs [REDACTED]

A friendly reminder of my below e-mail, which I sent on the 22nd of November. Is there a possibility that you can trace the origin of these birds?

Thank you very much for your reply.

Dear Mrs [REDACTED],

We received an application for the export of 6 specimens of the species Penelopides panini. Enclosed you will find the transfer paper of these birds from [REDACTED]. Next to 'Schutzstatus Anhang:' it says 'W A II'. Does this mean that the birds have origin 'W'?

Please could you let me know what the origin is of these birds? And is it correct they don't have to have a seamless closed footing?

Thank you very much for your help.
