Dear Mrs [REDACTED],

I might have overlooked it, but I cannot find an answer on our question of 27 December 2016 as attached.

Could you perhaps send the answer again? Or in case there is no answer, could you confirm that legal origin cannot be confirmed? Or could you perhaps confirm that in Germany these birds need to be registered, but breeder cannot send proof of it in this case? Or do these birds in Germany as in The Netherlands not need to be registered and that therefore breeder, if requested, needs to provide administration, which he refuses to deliver?

Because, and I quote your previous reply: "Mr. [REDACTED] claims the birds should have been bred by himself. But the regional authority received - up to now- not the necessary registration data."

I hope to receive an answer soon.

If you have any other questions, please contact us via e-mail, or by phone via our frontoffice +31 (0)88-0424242, press 9 for English, option 1 -->5.

With kind regards,
[REDACTED] MSc.
